Schools Should Not Ignore 9/11 Ignore 9/11

BY: DR. R. PLETCH

Pearl Harbor to VJ Day only took four years. The attack itself was not known by all immediately. 9/11 is more significant because we witnessed it live from the point of the second plane hitting the Towers we knew it was a deliberate act of war. When the US ordered their air space closed, people around the world were worried and all helped us land our even Castro in

Fifteen years have passed which means as an educator, the students in the classroom did not personally witness the event. We are at a point that many of the themselves have no significant recollection of the events. We are also passing through a period where groups Americans do whatever they can to find fault in our government and our people and want to spread problems with race, religion or anything else they can. I even saw a group of complaining about US involvement in Crusades. The United States was not even formed until about 500 years after the Crusades, yet these groups live by it. If the schools do not teach about this tragic attack on innocent people, those that sympathize with the attackers win. If you are afraid of getting involved in politics, don't try to justify, just give the facts. Don't and interpret the asked what their politics was, just like the sailors on the Arizona were not asked. Schools should at least celebrate what is now known as Patriots'

Day.

We should be proud to celebrate the heroism of so many in The Towers, in The Pentagon and in in The Pentagon and in the plane over Pennsylvania as well as our first responders. Not all who died were Americans, but they rep-resented us. They were of many faiths, back-grounds, ages, and races. There are those school officials that say "Oh it's too early in the year for too early in the year for an assembly", I can proudly say that my teachers at De La Cruz, Nightingale and St. Paul/Our Lady of Vilna never complained and neither should those educating your children now.

'66 Reunion For Queen of Peace

The first graduating class of Queen of Peace High School (1966) is celebrating their 50th union with an anniversary luncheon at Merlot's in Burr Ridge on Sunday, Sept. 25th from 12 noon to 3:30 p.m. Attendees will be welcomed back to the school and honored during an all school Mass "Building on Tradition" on Monday, Sept. 26th at 9 a.m. A

City Opens Edwards School Annex

Mayor Rahm Emanuel and 14th Ward Alderman Edward M. Burke opened a new $22 million, three-story annex for the Edwards School in the Archer Heights community to address classroom overcrowding. The 50,000 square foot wing is comprised of 24 new classrooms, a luncheon/multipurpose room and kitchen as well as a new playground and turf play area.

The project included the removal of the existing modular units on the school grounds. Principal Judith Sauri called the opening of the annex "a dream come true and a joyous day" for the Edwards School community.

The ceremony included CPS Chief Executive Officer Forrest Claypool, Chief Education Officer Junion Leakson and Chieggs Public Building

Chief Education Officer Janice Jackson and Chicago Public Building Commission Executive Director Felicia Davis. Edwards is a Level 1 School and one of only 12 dual language schools in Chicago.

Record Rate For CPS Graduations

Mayor Rahm Emanuel announced that Chicago Public School students have achieved a record high graduation rate, with 73.5 percent of the class - or 20,436 students - earning a diploma. The rate has steadily risen over the past five years, growing more than 16 percentage points since 2011, when just over half of CPS students earned a high school diploma.

The gains came from every geographic region of the city and all types of CPS schools, with neighborhood high schools improving by 4.6 points to 73.1 percent and charter schools improving by 0.8 points to 78.2 percent.

Nearly 60 percent students are reading at or above the average and more than half are beating the national average in math.

School attendance is on a steady rise, hitting 93.4 percent for the 2015 -16 school year, up from 91.7 percent in 2010-11. Two - thirds of District schools showed improved attendance over the previous year.

42 percent of graduates are enrolled in a 4year college or university in 2014-15 approaching the national average of a 44 percent.

In the 2014-15 school year, 36 percent of students earned one or more of the following college of career credentials early college credit, a 3+ on an AP exam, a 4+ on an IB exam, an approved career certification or a JROTC program completion certification.

The District is working to ensure that students have access to schools and recourses needed to promote college readiness. This includes investments

CPS Grads Earn More Scholarships

Mayor Rahm Emanuand Chicago Public Schools announced that the 2016 graduating class received a recordhigh $1.16 billion in scholarship offers, an increase of more than $206 million over the previous class year. These gains also reflect rising student achievement through acto college-level coursework. In School Year 2011-12, students received a total of more than $266 million.

SY 14-15, 6,224 CPS high school students reported scholarship offers. This year, 6,862 students reported offers. 47 CPS high schools have shown increases in scholarship offers since last

Growth in scholarship offers over recent years is consistent with the District's expansion of college-level coursework through expansion of STEM, IB, AP and Dual-Credit and Dual-Enrollment. Last year nearly 36 percent of CPS stuaents earnea one or more of the following college or career credentials: early college credit, a 3+ on an AP exam, a 4+ on an IB exam, an approved career certification, or a JROTC program complethe annual VFW National Legislative Conferand address veterans' issues in their communities.

The application package includes a proposal that addresses one of these four specific legislative issues: the success of veterans in the civilian job sector; the future of VA health care; the success of veterans in higher education; or the successful transition from military to civilian life.

The essay should discuss why the issue is important to the veterans' community, and how the candidate plans to address the issue through community-based advocacy. Selected fellows will be flown to Washington, D.C., to attend Capitol Hill as part of the 2017 VFW Legislative Conference, Feb. 26th to March Legislative Fellowship opportunities are open to student veterans at colleges and universities with active SVA chapters. Candidates chapters. must be VFW members.

All applications must be submitted by Oct. 21st, 2016. For full details about the fellowship and to apply, visit www.vfw.org/Student Fellowship.

Cannabis Rules On Possession

The Illinois Supreme Court has adopted six new rules 585 to 590 to establish a regulatory framework for a new state law, Public Act 99-697 that discriminates the possession of small amounts of cannabis and drug paraphernalia.

Under the new law, possession of up to 10 grams of cannabis or drug paraphernalia drug paraphernalia seized during the offense is characterized as a "civil law violation" and is punishable by a fine of $100 to $200. Previously, possession was a Class B Misdemeanor punishable by up to six months in jail and fines up to $1,500. Possession of drug paraphernalia was a Class A misdemeanor punishable by up to one year of imprisonment and a fine of $750 to

The six rules can be found in Part F of Article V of the Illinois Supreme Court Rules. Article V governs rules on trial court proceedings in traffic, conservation and petty offences, certain misdemeanors. bail schedules for many of these violations, and now civil law violations.

The language of the new rules and all of the Supreme Court rules can be found on the Court's website.

The new rules lay out the regulatory framework for civil law violaincluding applicability (Rule 585); appearance date (Rule 586); notice to accused (Rule 587); fines, penalties, and costs (Rule 588); forms and uniform processes (Rule 589); and the procedure if the accused fails to appear (Rule 590).

Rule 588 allows for the resolution of a civil law violation without a court appearance. Violators can pay a $120 fine by mail, similar to the current process for minor traffic violations.

CPS CEO Forrest Claypool and Chief Education Officer Dr. Janice K. Jackson announced their three-year vision which makes three commitments that build on recent successes.

Academic Progress: Students continue to make academic strides as demonstrated through improved test scores, record-high attendance, increased freshman-ontrack-rates, and increased graduation and college enrollment rates. The District will continue to expand access to proven successful programs and strategies, such as IB, STEM, and computer science implementation.

More students will have access to rigorous coursework with the possibility of earning college credit for exemplary performance. By continuing to recruit, support, and retain talented teachers and administrators, students will be provided with the social and emotional support needed to reach their full potential.

Financial stability: allows students to build on academic gains without disruptions to the classroom. By brainstorming innovative ways to manage and operate adminis-
