New Charter, No Surprise

By Dr. R. Pletsch

A new charter high school is coming to the 47th and California area. The papers have been full of the arguments for and against this new high school for months. The location is only a half mile from Kelly High School and less than a mile from the new Back of the Yards High School. The proponents argue that the school is needed because of overcrowding and to give parents choice. Those against the new school had figures showing these schools were not overcrowded and that the literature provided showed no difference between the curriculum in the charter school and that of the local high schools.

Several Seniors have asked me what is going on. Why are we paying for more seats and a new building when we can't afford the ones we have. These Seniors are very worried about their taxes and most of them never attended a public school, nor sent their kids to one. Remember when our communities had real choice, like St. Barbara High School, St. Mary of has no real accountability. If they are voted down at CPS, they go over their head to the State Charter Board, which can overrule the Board of Ed -- so basically Aldermen can say what they want, they have no vote. It's your State Rep. and State Senator who have the ability to vote for new charter school laws. This reminds me of Mel Gibson in "The Patriot" when looking at a battle-field stated "This battle was over before it start-ed." The charter system does their homework before they even apply. That's the 21st Century. It is unlike the people who live in the past that think filling a meeting room and marching down the street making noise can beat the system. There is no accountability with appointed boards, but people who can make these boards elected pick the members. Just like term limits. It's the one who would lose security that must vote for it. Contemplate this, the city is broke, the county is broke, the state is broke, the federal government is broke. What do you see as

Halloween Table Contest

The students at St. Richard School celebrated Halloween in a special way thanks to the parents who volunteered to decorate a table. The Table Trick or Treating was held in the gym and the 21 volunteer tables were spread around it. This allowed for an easy student costume parade, and a safe and comfortable environment for all the children to trick or treat. Teachers voted and awarded prizes to the tables based on decoration and creativity. First prize winners were parents Michael & Jennifer Ortega.

Red Ribbon Week Observance

Red Ribbon Week, an alcohol, tobacco, drug and violence prevention awareness campaign, was celebrated at St. Richard School during the week of Oct. 26th to 30th. To excite students and have them think of other things in life that are so much better than smoking, doing drugs, or bullying, each day of the week had a theme so that the students would focus on being cooperative, teamwork, and being healthy. Theme days included dressing like a twin on Monday, buddy reading ɗay on Tuesday, crazy sock day on Wednesday, wear red for rally day on Thursday, and in-door Halloween trick or treating on Friday. Pictured are Miss Gaus second grade class wearing colors for the rally day.
