Earl Nottingham—TPW Wildlife Photographer

Earl Nottingham was chief photographer for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for 25 years.

As an accredited Master Photographer, his work has been featured in numerous regional and national publications such as National Geographic Traveler, Smithsonian Guide to America, Texas Monthly, Texas Highways and Texas Parks & Wildlife magazine; as well as gracing the walls of homes and corporations. His videography earned him a Region Emmy Award in 2019.

His book, titled "Wild Focus - Twenty Five Years of Texas Parks & Wildlife Photography", is available now at Amazon.com and Texas A&M Press. <https://www.tamupress.com/book/9781648430015/wild-focus/>

It is not conclusively known exactly whom the Sheriff of Nottingham is based on, but it would have been one of—or a combination of—the real life people who have occupied the post of the High Sheriff of Nottinghamshire, Derbyshire and the Royal Forests.

If the version takes place during the Third Crusade, the character could have been based on William De Wendenal.
