STOCK DESIGNS:

You are purchasing a license to sew one or more stock designs on products for personal use or sale, as many times as you wish. You are not purchasing any license to the artwork or image of the design except as specified below.

The image of any stock design you buy is our property, or it is the property of the owner who licensed it to us.

All ownership rights of the design file and image are reserved by the respective owners under the applicable laws of the United States, and international treaties.

You may convert the design into other embroidery machine formats, for your own use only. You may resize, rotate, change colors, add to the design or merge the design with other designs for use on your own embroidery machine(s) only.

All other alteration of the design is prohibited, except with written permission from Stitched With Grace.

You may not charge anyone a digitizing fee when you produce an embroidered product using our design(s) or using a design derived from our design(s).

You may not sell, loan, give or in any way distribute our design files to anyone for any purpose. The same prohibition applies to any embroidery design derived from our design by converting, editing or merging our design. It also applies to the image of our design.

Prohibited kinds of distribution include but are not limited to storing the design file on any kind of electronic storage media which you give to anyone else (for example diskettes or Compact Disks), posting the design file on a website, or sending it by email.

You may post on your website or in your sales materials an image of the design which you have sewn-out if you include a link to our website, www.stitchedwithgrace.com and this copyright notice, "Design (c) [Year] by Stitched With Grace."

If someone wants a copy of the design file, please refer them to StitchedWithGrace.com.

TUTORIALS:

You are purchasing a tutorial from us for your personal use. You may not sell, loan, give or in any way distribute the tutorial.

The same prohibition applies to any copy or facsimile of our tutorial and any attachment such as video clips or images.

Prohibited kinds of distribution include but are not limited to storing the tutorial or attachments on any kind of electronic storage media which you give to anyone else (for example diskettes or Compact Disks), posting the design file on a website, or sending it by email.

If someone wants a copy of the tutorial, please refer the person to us at StitchedWithGrace.com.

Thank you and God bless you.
